

137. Evidently, individual investors had dipped into new economy stocks, in a "frantic mood to play the market", than view stocks as longer term investments.
138. Britain's pot-holed roads have been blamed for 50% increase in accident against local authorities in a study being published today.
139. A whispering "Dama!" broke the silence as she dropped the key-ring at her feet.
140. ST microchips are in one-third of all new cars, making cars more beautiful and safe, and putting some of the pure fun back into driving.
141. Dr Goodman stopped the oxygen, thinking that maybe the miocardium was particularly sensitive to the high oxygen levels that were in the blood; later he admitted that this should have been a mistake as well.
142. It was a pleasant gift shop, populated and run by gracefully aged suburbanite women dressed in cute pink smocks.
143. She needed no cap; her naturally curly red hair was short and combed easily into a soft halo when they were wet.
144. InterTrust is compatible with all music players including the popular WinAmp; however, it does not currently work with Windows Media files, the format championing by Microsoft.
145. She was enormously enjoying her fourth martini; she glowed inside like brightest globe on the twelve-foot Christmas tree that almost touched the oak-beamed ceiling.
146. Again she wanted to leave before something happened and she asked the simplest of questions to which she would undoubtedly have to answer a demoralizing "I don't know".