

191. Sony, the Japanese electronics giant^A, is to establish a non-life insurance^B operation focusing initially on selling discounted cars insurance policies^C the company said yesterday.^D
192. The review of Mitsubishi, Mitsui and Sumitomo brings to five a number of^A Japanese trading houses on watch^C for credit problems^B, and highlights the impact of the Asian financial crisis on Japanese companies.^D
193. The personal department^A is a department within a firm^B that is responsible for relations between the employer and employee^C, and for the employee's^D general welfare.
194. Population sizes^A, at various times from the onset^B of the agricultural revolution until census data^C first was kept in the 17th century^D, have also been estimated.
195. In fact, a few industries have already taken the initiative in cleaning up^A their effluents, and some of these^B have found it is possible^C to make a profit from pollution by-products^D.
196. Automobile advertising should emphasize economy^A of purchase and operation, especially low mileage^B, duration^C, compactness^D, comfort, engine efficiency, and low pollution emissions.
197. Protein malnutrition is usually most severe in young children, whose protein needs are greater than of adults^A in proportion to body weight^B, but who are, through^C their parents' poverty, ignorance, or custom, often given^D quite restricted diets.
198. It is unfortunately^A, that at the time of the greatest crisis in the US the world^B has ever faced, many Americans, especially the young, have given^C up the hope that the government can be modernized and changed in the direction through the functioning of the elective process^D.
199. Iodine is an essential component of thyroid hormones, which regulate growth^A development, and metabolic activities; it is found in foods^B grown in rich iodine^C soil and in iodized^D salt.
200. There is^A reason to believe that population growth increases the probability of a lethal worldwide plague and of a thermonuclear war; any could provide^B an undesirable^C "death rate solution" to the population^D problem.