Living without a TV

ALMOST every family today ¹have a TV, in fact probably more than one, and people everywhere spend hours watching it. But a few families choose to live without a TV because they think there are advantages.

The first advantage is that families spend more time ²talk to each other. Secondly, they spend more time doing more creative things like reading or painting. Thirdly, they spend more time outdoors, and are usually ³more fit.

On the other hand, there are also disadvantages. For example, children who don't have a TV may feel ⁴different from ⁵there school friends, and often won't know what they are talking about. Also it is not true that all TV ⁶programmes are bad. There are also good ones, like ⁷documentarys, and people who live without a TV may know less about ⁸whats happening in the world.

In conclusion, ⁹althought living without a TV has some advantages, I think today it's unrealistic and that we should just try to turn the TV ¹⁰out when there's nothing good on.
